Knebworth

HOUSE, GARDENS, PARK, DINOSAUR TRAIL & ADVENTURE PLAYGROUND

2010

Welcome to Knebworth

Knebworth House and Park mean many things to many people. Here in the 21st Century, Knebworth Park is best known worldwide as Britain's largest music venue, however in the days before rock concerts Knebworth House was better known as the home of the Victorian novelist, playwright and politician, Edward Bulwer Lytton.

Music, literature and politics have featured throughout Knebworth's history. Every generation of the Lytton family has woven thread in the extraordinary tapestry of cultural and social history that is represented here.

As the 19th generation of the Lytton family to live at Knebworth, we invite you to join our extraordinary guest book that stretches all the way from Queen Elizabeth I to Queen Elizabeth II. Whether this is your first visit or you've visited us many times before... welcome to our home.

The Hon. Henry and Martha Lytton Cobbold

The House

The romantic exterior of Knebworth House with its turrets, domes and gargoyles silhouetted against the sky does little to prepare the visitor for what to expect inside. The House has stood for many years longer than the Victorian decoration suggests and the stucco hides from view a red brick house dating back to the Tudor times. Heirlooms on display in the house reflect the family's Vice Regal time in India and visits by characters as diverse as Charles Dickens, Winston Churchill and Noel Gallagher.

The Gardens

There have been gardens at Knebworth House since at least the 17th Century, but the present layout dates largely from the Edwardian era. The architect Sir Edwin Lutyens, who married into the Lytton family, simplified the ornate beds and statuary of the Victorian garden with lawns and avenues of pollarded lime trees. Popular features of the 25 acres now include a maze, the organically run walled kitchen garden and the Gertrude Jekyll Herb Garden designed over one hundred years ago in 1907.

The Dinosaur Trail

Your trip back in time goes much further than the Tudors in our Wilderness Garden, where 72 life-size dinosaurs can be found grazing amongst the rhododendrons and the redwoods. Exploring the woodland paths, children of all ages learn about the T-Rex, the Woolly Mammoth and other fascinating pre-historic creatures.

The Barns

A visit to Knebworth would not be complete without a cup of tea and an ice cream in our Garden Terrace Tea Room, attached to two historic 16th Century village barns. The Barns each have a unique and beautiful appearance and are an excellent venue for corporate events, private parties, weddings and other ceremonies.

The Park

Our 250 acres of rolling hills and ancient chestnut and lime avenues offer a quiet refuge for country picnics and dog walking (visitors are asked not to take pets into the gardens and to use leads in the park). You might catch a glimpse of our grazing herds of Red and Sika deer, residents at Knebworth for even longer than the Lytton family! And look out for our popular special event summer weekends, including garden shows, car rallies and jousting tournaments.

The Adventure Playground

Throughout the school holidays, children can run loose amongst the swings, slides and walkways of our Adventure Playground. A perennial favourite for over thirty years – Tarzan trails, miniature railway, thrill slides, and bouncy castle – many parents find themselves revisiting the scenes of their own childhood spent in beautiful Knebworth Park.

Knebworth House and Gardens are maintained by The Knebworth House Education and Preservation Trust, a charity established by the Lytton Cobbold family with the support of the Hertfordshire local authorities.
